

Fixed-term contracts / Internships - translator German-French

LabSense is a young French innovative startup (launched in 2011) that develops a semantic solution able to produce automated natural language content in several languages.

We will soon begin a major project which consists in adapting our technology in German.

We are actively seeking between 2 and 4 native German persons that are bilingual in French for the next 6 months (starting mid-march 2013). We are hiring for fixed-term contracts and internships that may lead to a job.

Our office is located in the heart of Paris (3rd arr).

The mission consists in translating and enriching texts from French to German. The level of written expression of the candidates must be perfect. We are looking for people enthusiastic with language topics.

Applications (CV + motivation) must be sent to: candidature@lab-sense.com